The Board of Directors of St. Paul's Home is pleased to announce that Tutera Senior Living & Health Care, and its affiliates, are the new owners of the St. Paul's Senior Community effective December 1, 2019.

While this news marks a substantial change in the ownership structure of the Community, the Board does not foresee that any significant changes will occur in the day-to-day happenings of the Community and the lives of the residents as Tutera has managed the Community since December 2018. The Board is confident that Tutera will continue, as it has for the past year, to provide the best and highest quality of care available to our residents as well as uphold the faith-based values that our Community holds so dear.

The Board believes that this change is in the best interest of the Community Residents and will help ensure that the Community will remain one of the best senior living communities in the region for decades to come. The Board and Tutera intend to work diligently to ensure a seamless transition and to guarantee that our residents continue to receive the same first-rate service for which our Community is known.

All the members of the Board, and their predecessors, are extremely honored and proud to have served the Community and its residents, and the Board will continue to be a resource for the residents and their families through this transition and beyond.

Wishing you the happiest of holidays and a joyous new year,

Allen W. Scharf, Chairman

Board of Directors of St. Paul's Home
